SAN DIEGO, CA (PRWEB) AUGUST 24, 2022

Recently, SupplyPro has published a white paper on its exciting new smart technology that revolutionizes inventory control, even for the smallest distributors. This white paper introduces the UStockit Inventory Shelf Tag™ from SupplyPro: a technology that can turn a shelf, a storeroom, or even an entire warehouse into a virtual vending machine.

After examining the challenges of industrial distributors utilizing traditional inventory control solutions themselves and for their customers, SupplyPro has reimagined vending to give even the small distributors a competitive edge. This white paper demonstrates how leveraging smart technologies can create smart distributors with direct benefits to their bottom line. “Transforming electronic shelf tags into powerful inventory control devices is one of the biggest innovations in industrial distribution in the last decade,” said Floyd Miller, CEO of SupplyPro.

The UStockit Inventory Shelf Tag system is currently in public BETA with an expected availability date later this year.
